

Smyth, Brendan

Carving the Oak

We have all seen in our minds eye an image in a cloud. The imagination tickled by a shape so easily found.
The same is true of oak and pine that the bogs have shaped in depths forbidden. So my quest is not to alter
But to free the shape that's hidden.

Brendan Smyth